Keep it simple this holiday season

By: Shanna De Lima-Suganuma, East Hawaii Island Coordinator

Working with young children can be incredibly rewarding, but it can also be filled with obstacles. Dealing with parental demands, conflicts in the classroom, challenging behaviors, and trying to set lesson plans during the holidays can be exhausting in a normal year, add on a global pandemic and it can become completely overwhelming. The holidays are going to look different this year, but different does not mean that it needs to be stressful.

You've probably heard the expression you can't fill from an empty cup. Most of us try to be ECE Champions and power through every hurdle like an Olympic Gold Medalist. We don't ask for help, we don't take breaks and at the end of the day we have nothing left for ourselves. Which leads me to this revelation: sometimes, you have to put yourself first so you can be a better caregiver. It isn't selfish. Even on an airplane, adults are asked to put on their oxygen masks first, and then assist children or other passengers.

As caregivers of young children, whether you are a parent, a child care provider, or both, it is hard to find time to take care of yourself. Self-care is not only necessary to stay grounded and healthy – your interactions with children is a reflection of your mood. No one wants to be yelled at all day by his or her overwhelmed caregiver. So how do you take care of yourself, especially during the holiday season? Let's start by keeping it simple, knowing your limits and not being afraid to take care of yourself.

In the classroom keep seasonal crafts and activities simple. Make it easy on yourself: focus on what is developmentally relevant rather than trying to cover every aspect, especially if you work with young kiddos or a mixed age group.

Practice breathing exercises when you feel out of control. Including the children in these exercises can teach them about self-soothing, and this might be a great chance to play and learn together. Even short breaks can reenergize you. Five minutes by yourself can be an incredible recharge! Remember to stay hydrated, eat healthy and give your mind a rest every now and then.

Other things, like targeting the reason for your stress will help you be mindful of your mood. Try to recognize the circumstances that cause you the most stress. Knowing which things stress you out most and being able to identify when stress is coming on will help you be better prepared to deal with situations. Above all, ask for help when you need it.

Remember that you cannot care for others unless you take care of yourself as well. Embracing the ideas above can help you to be a more effective childcare professional and avoid stress, burnout and negative feelings during the holiday season. When you are happy and healthy, you'll be able to genuinely enjoy the holidays with those around you.

Food Program

NATIONAL HANDWASHING AWARENESS WEEK ★ DECEMBER 4 - 8

1. Wet your hands with clean, running water (warm or cold), turn off the tap, and apply soap.
2. Lather your hands by rubbing them together with the soap. Lather the backs of your hands, between your fingers, and under your nails.
3. Scrub your hands for at least 20 seconds. Need a timer? Hum the "Happy Birthday" song from beginning to end twice.
4. Rinse your hands well under clean, running water.
5. Dry your hands using a clean towel or an air dryer.

The holidays are upon us. It's a time to spend time with your friends and family and celebrate. Happy Holidays from your Food Program ohana.

NAEYC

The National Association for the Education of Young Children (NAEYC) is a professional membership organization that works to promote high-quality early learning for all young children, birth through age 8, by connecting early childhood practice, policy, and research. We advance a diverse, dynamic early childhood profession and support all who care for, educate, and work on behalf of young children. The association comprises nearly 60,000 individual members of the early childhood community and 52 Affiliates, all committed to delivering on the promise of high-quality early learning. Together, we work to achieve a collective vision: that all young children thrive and learn in a society dedicated to ensuring they reach their full potential.

BOOKS WE LOVE TO READ

STAFFS' FAVORITE

"No, David" teaches kids discipline and proper behavior. It is about a boy named David who is constantly being told no because he doesn't make the best choices. But, in the end he is told that his loved despite the numerous mistakes he has made.

"The Rainbow Fish" teaches kids sharing and the happiness that sharing brings others. This book is about the most beautiful fish in the ocean that becomes lonely because of how conceited and proud he is but over time he realizes he can't win friends through beauty so he overcomes his pride and shares his beautiful scales to the other fish.

"Love you Forever" by Robert Munsch is about a mother caring for her child throughout his life, even as an adult until one day she no longer can and the child starts taking care of his mother.

"Goodnight Moon" by Margaret Wise Brown is about a young bunny that says goodnight to the objects and creatures in a green-walled bedroom, drifting gradually to sleep as the lights dim and the moon glows in the big picture window.
